Members of Christ's Body

Today, as we admit and re-license people to assist with Holy Communion, we hear in our second reading St. Paul use the analogy of many separate parts making one body. Each and every one of us is a part of the body of Christ, and this is never more true than when we gather to celebrate the Eucharist. We, as one body, share one bread.

We all take part in various ways. It may be as a member of the congregation, it may be by singing in the choir, by reading, or serving or welcoming people, or by being a minister of Holy Communion. However we take part, we make real the words of Jesus spoken in today's gospel that scripture is being fulfilled. The Bible is not just the story of the past, but good news for everyday and as insightful now as when those who wrote it were first inspired by the Holy Spirit to do. Its good news is made present today through the many and varied members of the body of Christ.
