Remembrance

Central to our faith is the death and resurrection of Jesus Christ - and central to our faith is our remembrance of this saving act each time we celebrate the Mass. As human beings we need to remember what has made us the people we are. Today we also remember those who have died in armed conflict and service of our country. We begin the Mass with a short ceremony commemorating them and do so consciously in the presence of the risen Christ, but also in the knowledge that we forget the past at our peril. History is doomed to repeat itself if no one learns its lessons.
